

CAPTAIN JOHN MOURNED BY RACE

Paleface and Redskin Pay
Last Tribute at Bier.

Services This Evening by Improved Order of Red Men.

On the cover of a long black box, a tomahawk and a bow and arrow, in immortals, stand out in striking contrast to the crepe that is draped about the casket. Copper-colored men, most of them giants in stature, stand around the coffin with bowed heads. A little further back a group of palefaces watch the proceedings with sorrow and respect. Now and then a tear is seen to run down the cheeks of the red stoics, who, it is supposed, never give way to their emotions.

That was the scene all this morning, as sorrowing friends visited the chapel in Lee's undertaking establishment to pay a last tribute to Andrew Johnson, Chief Gusa-to-no-to, former president of the Seneca nation, and for fifteen years representative of the Six Nations at the Capital.

According to the ritual of the Improved Order of Red Men, funeral services will be held at 6 o'clock this evening by Minneola Tribe, No. 14, of which he was a member. Accompanied by his widow, the body will be taken to Cuttaraugus, N. Y., on the 1:15 train.

John was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday in the Indian boarding house conducted by Ben Beveridge, at 234 Third street northwest. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital, where he died yesterday morning, a few minutes after his wife arrived at the bedside.

John was regarded as one of the greatest men of his race. Through his efforts Congress appropriated approximately $200,000 in settlement of various claims made by the Six Nations. He was a personal friend of the late Senator Quay.

CABINET ON VACATION, ALL EXCEPT WILSON

Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, the oldest member of Cabinet in point of service, is the only executive officer now in Washington.

Secretary Cortelyou left last night for Long Island, and will probably be gone until October. Attorney General Bonaparte and family are at Lenox. Secretary Taft is nursing his Presidential boom in Murray, Canada. Secretary Root is sojourning at his country place near Hamilton, N. H., and Secretary McCall is still at Oakland, Cal. Secretary Garfield is inspecting land offices throughout the West, and Secretary Straus is in New England.

Postmaster General Meyer started yesterday on his vacation, which will be used incidentally in preparing his annual postal report to Congress.

EVIDENCE FAVORING HAU DEVELOPS IN MURDER CASE

While Hau chatted cheerfully with his counsel the newspaper men present crowded around the green table fronting the judge's bench to inspect the gawdaw exhibit of Frau Molitor's heart in a glass vessel filled with alcohol. There is a gaping wound in the center.

The examination took a wide range, including Hau's life in Washington, and his visits to Constantinople in an unsuccessful effort to secure a passport for the Porte for certain American firms.

Hau admitted that while returning from Turkey in October he stopped in Vienna and collected $7,000 on a letter of credit, and that he had subsequently written a letter from Frankfurt-on-the-Main to his London banker, saying this letter of credit had been lost. He denied, however, having tried to get a renewal of this letter of credit.

Haywood Case Crisis Arrives With Battle On Evidence Record

Mrs. Adams (at Left), and Mrs. Pettibone (on Right), Visiting the Jail.

REBUTTAL ENDED, ARGUMENTS READY

Speeches Will Last Until Wednesday or Thursday Next.

BOISE, Idaho, July 18.—A crisis has been reached in the Haywood case. Attorneys for the prosecution and defense are fighting today for the preservation, in the record of evidence, on which the verdict will largely depend.

The prosecution is doing its best to keep before the jury the testimony designed to connect Haywood with deeds of violence to which Harry Orchard confessed.

Rebuttal Is Complete.

The prosecution completed its rebuttal late yesterday afternoon. Attorney Darrow, for the defense, says he will probably call no witnesses in rebuttal. Should he change his mind, he added, their testimony will take not more than thirty minutes.

On the defense's request, three of the prosecution's rebuttal witnesses were ordered held within the court's jurisdiction, the plain inference being that the defense contemplates asking warrants for their arrest.

The men in question are:
William Dewey, the miner, who testified that Big Bill Davis led the mob that blew up the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill.

Sheriff Rutan, of San Miguel county, Colo., who said he deported citizens under warrant of law.

D. Scott, railroad detective, to whom Orchard first volunteered information.

Final arguments will begin tomorrow, and continue until Wednesday or Thursday next.

SUBMARINE MINES FOR PHILIPPINES

Government Beginning to Carry Out Scheme Mapped
Out for Defenses.

In connection with the scheme for coast defense mapped out by the National Coast Defense Board, Congress last winter appropriated $45,000 for submarine mines, apparatus to work them, and searchlights for the defense of the principal ports of our insular possessions. The first shipment of material purchased under this appropriation will be sent to the Philippines early in August.

DANCING ARMY OF ELKS IN GAY DRESS PARADE

fully falling back from the space required for the marchers.

Showers of Confetti.

As if the decorations on buildings along the line of march were not already elaborate enough, many merchants were out early to add to the colors, banners and Elk placards, until the thoroughfares were one line of fluttering colors. From windows, housetops and grandstands, showers of confetti were rained upon the marchers and spectators alike.

First came the mounted police, and in their wake were the Philadelphia Elks, led by John P. Sullivan, the grand marshal of the parade.

The Philadelphia lodge had 1,500 men in it, all dressed in neat blue suits, white shirts and white shoes. Of course the reception they received was a wonderful one, and they deserved it, notwithstanding the local reasons. New York city had 20 men, wearing red and blue uniforms, and carrying purple megaphones and colors.

Evening Clothes for Pittsburg.

Pittsburg was in the first division with more than 200 men. The boys from the millionaire town made a great hit. Attired in their evening clothes, with overcoats lined with purple silk, patent leather shoes, white spats, with pearl buttons, high hats, and carrying white silk parasols, they presented a striking appearance.

The prize drill team, included in the Pittsburg delegation, executed some remarkable figures, compelling applause of the most hearty nature. There will be great surprise if the Pittsburg delegation does not carry off one or more of the prizes.

Then, in sharp contrast, came the Denver Lodge, No. 17, with its 100 jolly, strenuous big fellows. The Colorado folk and their couch-punching outfits were a great innovation. The leather-lunged shouters made the streets ring with their yells, and lassos coiled and uncoiled to the intense amusement of the onlookers.

Philadelphia is going to get a blank cartridge "shoot-out" tonight, or Colorado's representation will know why. They want the staid old town to remember the Elks of Denver, they say.

The Buffalo Lodge, No. 22, with 150 men and a band of thirty made a splendid showing. The men marched and maneuvered with a full-fledged circus for their good figure drilling. The usual jokes, based on the number of the lodge, "22," were heard all along the line, and equal advantage was taken of the "Buffalo" opportunity.

Circus From Kansas City.

The Kansas City Lodge sprung a great surprise on the Elks as well as the spectators. They made a secret of their costumes and their stunts, but immediately after the march was begun, they launched forth with a full-fledged circus, with a band of thirty.

Uncoiled to the intense amusement of the onlookers. The leather-lunged shouters made the streets ring with their yells, and lassos coiled and uncoiled to the intense amusement of the onlookers.

Final arguments will begin tomorrow, and continue until Wednesday or Thursday next.

bull fight was presented by the seventy-five members of the El Paso (Tex.) lodge. Dr. Herbert E. Stevenson represented El Capitan Grande, the chief mogul of the whole affair, or what we call here, marshal of the parade.

Girl Toreador.

Following him was Miss Lillian Crawford, an El Paso girl of the Texan type of beauty, who represented the capitana toreadora, the lady bull fighter. Her costume was of white velvet trimmed with gold lace and silver filigree of Mexican make. She rode a horse and used a divided skirt.

The Detroit delegation with seventy-five men and a band of thirty-five pieces marched well, and executed many difficult gestures. They carried many novelties in the shape of badges, antlers, and appropriate novelties secured while in the city. The trip appearance of the men and their marching were most favorably commented on.

The Toledo delegation—the "Cherry Pickers"—made a great hit. They were 100 strong, including a splendid drill team which executed the most difficult figures with surprising ease. The "Cherry Pickers" should be in evidence when the award of prizes is made.

Big Demonstration At Leach's Success In Treasurership

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 18.—To the accompaniment of one of the most remarkable demonstrations that the Academy of Music has ever known, Edward Leach, of New York, was declared to be elected grand treasurer of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks over John W. Wagner, of Kansas City.

The announcement of the result of the election was the climax of the most picturesque battle ever waged in an Elks convention.

Backed by all the bankers and business men of Kansas City and the West, Wagner was considered a sure winner. Leach won with 659 votes to 546 for Wagner.

Immediately afterward, the election of the three grand trustees was announced. Two men who won out were Thomas B. Miller, of Superior, Wis., with 814 votes; Thomas F. McNulty, of Baltimore, Md., 722 votes; and Mayor Charles C. Schmidt, of Wheeling, W. Va., with 616 votes.

Poses as Blind Man, Gives Newsboys Money

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—Frederick Rogers, one of the Toledo "Cherry Pickers," corralled fifty newsboys in front of the Hotel Walton. He had secured the streets within a radius of five squares from the hotel for them.

After he had lined them up on Broad street, he pitched a handful of pennies and nickels from a second story window. There was a riot among the newsboys when the first coin struck the street. They struggled, pushed and pulled to grab the money. One youngster, Mickey Finn, was kicked in the head and had to be taken to a hospital.

Rogers threw the money to the newspaper after he had won a wager that he could pose as a blind man and collect $5 in an hour's time. For that period, with a "help the blind" sign pinned on his breast, he stood in front of the hotel.

Arrested for Theft After Posing as Elk

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 18.—Awakened by a brass band early in the morning, a man in a blue suit and a hat, who had been posing as an Elk, was arrested at the Hotel Hanover, Charles M. Newlin, Jr., son of the past exalted ruler of the Brooklyn Lodge of Elks, captured a stranger in his room just as he was making off with a valuable diamond stud.

Finding he was caught the man coolly remarked:
"Good morning, brother," and tried to give the impression that he had wandered into the wrong room. When arrested, however, Magistrate Gallagher held a rambling story and was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing on Saturday.

Giant Roll of Money In Big Sheriff's Care

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—There is one Elk roaming about the city who is carrying a wad, estimated at $10,000, in his trousers pockets. It is not probable that any other pocket will attempt to get away with the money, as the custodian is Edward Nesbit, the bluff ex-1000-sheriff of Denver, Colo.

When the Denver delegation was preparing to leave for their home, it was suggested that the expense money for the crowd be carried in the shape of a check on a local bank.

"That will be too much trouble," said one of the number. Give the wad to Sheriff Nesbit. It will be just as safe. The giant roll is about ten inches in circumference.
